Happy Chinese New Year!
新年快乐! (xīn nián kuài lè), also 过年好! (guò nián hǎo), 恭喜发财! (gōng xǐ fā cái), and (牛年吉祥! niú nián jí xiáng).
January 26th is the first day of the Year of the Ox.
Either 4706 or 4707,

depending on whom you ask. According to one site, the Chinese living in the USA are lucky. If they fail to keep their New Years Resolutions after January 1st, they can start their resolutions anew on the Chinese New Year (January 26th this year). They get a second chance to do it right! I am glad that I celebrate Chinese New Year as I need that second chance. Are you going to make/buy lanterns and hang them in the traditional fashion? If you have children or grandchildren it would be fun and educational to make lanterns with them. Chinese New Year is a time to which all Chinese children look forward (like American children look forward to Christmas). Chinese children not only get to meet a lot of family and eat good food, they get gifts of red envelopes, 紅包 ('hóng bāo'), with money in them! We are having a Chinese New Years potluck/celebration at the church. The potluck starts at 5:00 or 5:30pm, depending on whom you ask. The program will start afterwards. We hope you can attend. Their will be good food and good fellowship.

This past Sunday KaiTsu and Jan, Marie, and Patricia and Henson visited Joyce, who is not able to come to class now. Even though Joyce is having trouble with her memory, they all had a good visit and Joyce was very happy to see them and to remember and hear about the class and how it is doing. Please pray for her and her family.

Weekly Bible Verse:

Open my eyes that I may see wonderful things in your law.
Psalm 119:18

求你開我的眼睛，使我看出你律法中的奇妙。詩篇119:18
